Re: Employment Offer

Dear Mr. Parks,

We are pleased to offer you a position as an IT Service Lead with UNCOMN, LLC. This is an offer of at will employment, contingent upon completion of the pre-hire items listed in the paragraphs below. You will report to Chris Williams, and your anticipated start date is May 18, 2026. Your duties and responsibilities within UNCOMN are outlined in the attached Position Description.

1. Salary: Your starting annual salary will be $92,000. In addition, you will be eligible for a $5,000 signing bonus, payable on your first paycheck. If you leave UNCOMN within 12 months of your date of hire, you may be responsible for reimbursing the company the entire signing bonus.

2. Paid Time Off and Benefits: Upon your start date, you will be eligible for Flexible PTO and all full-time employee benefits. You will find details regarding our benefits in the attached Team Member Handbook.

3. This offer is valid until May 11, 2026, by which date please notify UNCOMN of your acceptance via email to career@uncomn.com. The offer is contingent upon 1) your acceptance of the Employment Agreement which includes the terms and conditions of employment and restrictive covenants; and 2) a successful background check. If you are currently employed, we recommend that you not provide notice to your employer until after you receive notification from UNCOMN that all contingencies have been met. After we receive notice of your acceptance, the offer may be withdrawn if the above contingencies are not satisfied within 45 days. The fulfillment or lack thereof of any aspect of this document shall not result in any costs or damages being assessed or pursued by either Party against the other.

4. By accepting this offer, you represent that you are able to accept this job and carry out the work that it would involve without breaching any legal restrictions on your activities, such as non-competition, non-solicitation, or other work-related restrictions or restrictive covenants imposed by a current or former employer. You also represent that you will inform the Company about any such restrictions and provide the Company with as much information about them as possible, including any agreements between you and your current or former employer describing such restrictions on your activities. You further confirm that you will not remove or take any documents or proprietary data or materials of any kind, electronic or otherwise, with you from your current or former employer to the Company without written authorization from your current or former employer, nor will you use or disclose any such confidential information during the course and scope of your employment with the Company. If you have any questions about the ownership of particular documents or other information, you should discuss such questions with your former employer before removing or copying the documents or information.

Thank you for your interest in UNCOMN, LLC. We look forward to having you join our team!

Be Awesome,

Troy Templeman
COO

I have read, understood, and accept all the terms of the offer of employment as set forth in the foregoing letter.

Terms and Conditions of Employment
as an “Employee” of UNCOMN, LLC

Confidentiality: Douglas Parks (hereinafter “Employee”) recognizes and acknowledges that the plans and designs; marketing and business plans; computer programs; Company proposals and procedures; and customer records and information (hereinafter “Systems”) which UNCOMN, LLC (hereinafter “Company”) owns, plans, or develops, whether for its own use or for use by its clients, are confidential and are the property of Company. Employee further recognizes and acknowledges that in order to enable Company to perform services for its clients, such clients may furnish to Company confidential information concerning their business affairs, property, methods of operation or other data; that the goodwill afforded to Company depends upon, among other things, Company and its Employees keeping such services and information confidential (collectively referred to as the “Confidential Information”).

Non-Disclosure: Employee further agrees and covenants that because of the confidential and sensitive nature of the Confidential Information and because the use of, or even the appearance of the use of, the Confidential Information in certain circumstances may cause irreparable damage to Company and its reputation, or to clients of Company, Employee shall keep in strictest confidence, both during the Employee’s Employment and for one year (or such longer period included in any confidentiality agreement with any client) subsequent to termination of Employment, and shall not during the period of Employment or thereafter disclose or divulge to any person, firm or corporation, or use, directly or indirectly, for the Employee’s own benefit or for the benefit of others, any information which in good faith and good conscience ought to be treated as Confidential Information including, without limitation, information relating to the Systems developed by Company, information as to sources of, and arrangements for, equipment supplied to customers or clients of Company, submission and proposal procedure of Company, customer names, addresses or contact lists or any other Confidential Information.

Possession: Employee agrees that upon request by Company, and in any event upon termination of Employment, Employee shall turn over to Company all documents, papers, electronic files or other material in his possession or under his control which may contain or be derived from Confidential Information, together with documents, notes or other work product which is connected with or derived from Employee’s services to Company whether or not such material is at the date hereof in Employee’s possession. Employee agrees that Employee shall have no proprietary interest in any work products developed or used by Employee and arising out of her Employment by Company. Employee shall, from time to time as may be requested by Company, do all things which may be necessary to establish or document Company’s ownership of any such work product, including, but not limited to execution of appropriate copyright applications and assignments.

Injunctive Relief: Employee acknowledges that disclosure of any Confidential Information will give rise to irreparable injury to Company or clients of Company, inadequately compensable in damages. Accordingly, Company, or where appropriate a client of Company, may seek and obtain injunctive relief against the breach or threatened breach of the undertaking contained hereto, in addition to any other legal remedies which may be available. Employee further acknowledges and agrees that the covenants contained herein are necessary for the protection of the Company’s legitimate business interests and are reasonable in scope and content.

Company’s Clients and Opportunities: During employment and for a period of one year from the date of termination of employment, Employee shall not, directly or indirectly, disclose to any person, firm or corporation the names, addresses, contacts, customer list of any clients of or any opportunities pursued by the Company, nor directly or indirectly solicit for the same business purpose as pursued by Company, any of said clients of or opportunities pursued by the Company.

Solicitation of Employees: During employment and for a period of one year from the date of termination of employment, Employee shall not, directly or indirectly, hire or solicit, induce, entice or encourage any person who presently is or, at any time prior to the termination of this Agreement, shall be an Employee of the Company to become employed by any other person, business, organization, agency or firm.

Binding Effect and Severability: This Agreement shall inure to the benefit of and be legally binding upon the parties hereto, their heirs, executors, successors or assigns, as well as any person, corporation or other entity which shall own or control the capital stock of the Company. It is further intended that this Agreement may not be assigned by Company or Employee. In the event any one or more of the provisions, or portions thereof, contained or referenced in this Agreement shall for any reason be held invalid, illegal or unenforceable by a court of competent jurisdiction, such provision shall be reformed so as to comply with the standard in effect in that jurisdiction and such circumstance shall not affect any other provision hereof this Agreement shall continue in full force and be construed as if such provision, to the extent that it is invalid, illegal or unenforceable had been properly framed according to the standard in effect in that jurisdiction, or if not capable of being reformed, than as if it had never been contained herein.

Terms and conditions set forth in the Offer of Employment letter and these Terms and Conditions of Employment are hereby agreed to and accepted as stated.
